

UNDERSTANDING WRCOG

What is WRCOG?

The Western Riverside Council of Governments (WRCOG) is a joint powers authority consisting of local governments working together to address issues that impact the entire Western Riverside County—like transportation, housing, infrastructure, and sustainability. WRCOG helps unify these efforts so the region speaks with one voice.

What Does WRCOG Do?

Facilitates Regional Collaboration

WRCOG supports its local government agencies, also known as member agencies, by:

- Coordinating long-term planning across jurisdictions
- Managing regional funding programs like TUMF (Transportation Uniform Mitigation Fee)
- Leading initiatives on clean energy, mobility, and climate resilience
- Providing tools, data, and resources to local governments
- Representing the region at the state and federal level
- Offer fellowships to assist public agencies and college students with cutting edge endeavors.
